

Clinical Programs Director

Collat Jewish Family Services is seeking a seasoned social worker, LCSW or equivalent, to manage, develop and direct all clinical programs including Individual and Family Counseling, Senior Adult Case Management, and Financial Assistance. Qualified candidates must have a minimum of 5 years' experience working in a clinical setting and would possess experience in clinical counseling and supervision, program development, program administration and evaluation, and grant management. Work history with the aging population is preferred. The CJFS Clinical Director is a member of the Senior Management Team and reports to the Executive Director.

CJFS is a non-profit, United Way partner agency with a 25-year history of serving people of all faiths, races, and income levels. Our primary focus is on services for older adults, but we serve individuals and families of all ages. We pride ourselves on providing high-quality professional services with compassion and with developing innovative programming to address unmet needs in the community.
