Survey Objectives

- The main objective of this survey was to obtain CEO compensation and benefit information which could serve as benchmarks for the purpose of recruitment and salary negotiations.
- CEO Compensation information is presented by several major categories: gender, region,* size of agency budget, number of years in Jewish human services field, and number of years in agency.
- Compensation information was also obtained for other C-Suite professionals, including the agencies' COO's, CFO's, Director of Development, etc.
- The survey also obtained other information about the benefits offered by these agencies as well as other employee-related policies.
- Finally, the survey inquired about other agency policies and explored NJHSA member agencies' interest in obtaining support and training regarding a range of issues.

* Appendix F lists the states included in each of 4 regions.

Methodology

- An online survey was designed by the consultant and vetted by the NJSHA and specifically by its HR (Human Resources) Committee, prior to its transmission.
- The survey was transmitted to 128 member agencies in good standing in early July, 2018.
- The survey was ‘closed’ at the end of August, 2018. This occurred after several reminders were sent.
- A total of 89 agencies (70% of the 128) responded to the survey.
- Of these 89 agencies, 83 had full-time CEO’s.
- Of the 83 agencies with full-time CEO’s, information on CEO compensation was received from 79 agencies which served as the database for calculating full-time CEO compensation.

Yearly CEO Compensation

Overall 2018 CEO Compensation

OVERALL CEO YEARLY SALARY: MEDIAN & AVERAGE

Median: $135,000

Average: $150,460

Overall 2018 CEO Compensation

- The overall median yearly compensation for full-time CEO's is $135,000.*
- The overall mean (average) yearly compensation for full-time CEO's is $150,460.
- Going forward, only median compensation levels will be reported.
- The rationale for reporting medians – rather than means – is that medians (the “midpoint”) adjust for “outliers.” In this study, outliers can distort means/ averages because of 1 or more very high salaries or 1 or more very low salaries.
- Average (Mean) yearly compensation data can be found in Appendix F.

* Please note that the sample of 79 agencies on which this (2018) CEO compensation study is based is substantially different than the sample of 35 agencies on which the 2016 (AJFCA- IAJVS) report was based. The agencies responding to the 2016 study tended to be larger and therefore the median & average salary levels were higher. In contrast, the 2018 study included a much wider variety of agencies, including many smaller agencies. Appendix B contains a listing of all (79) CEO salaries – minus CEO & agency names.

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Gender

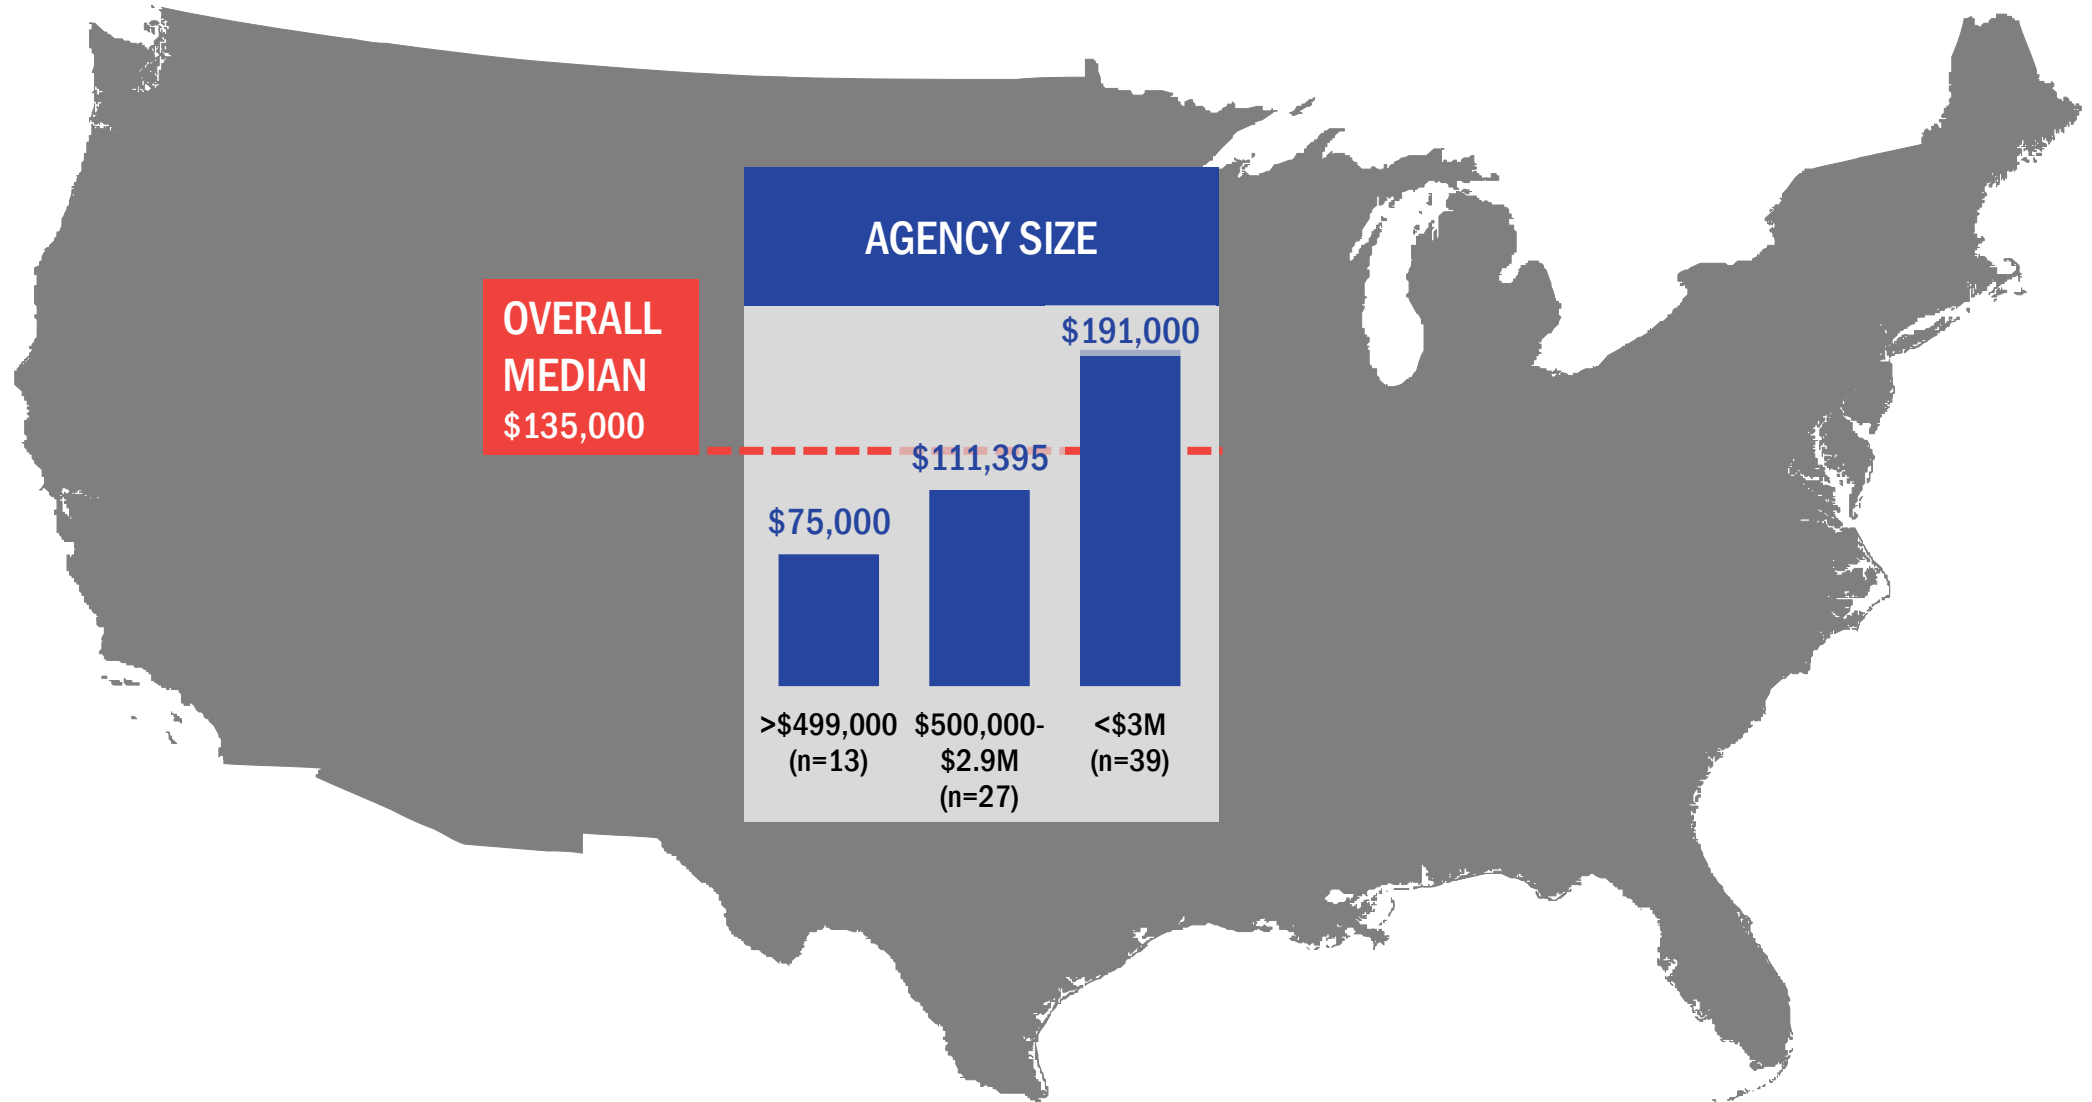

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Gender

- Female CEO's yearly median salary is 8% below the overall median salary.
- Male CEO's yearly median salary is 21% higher than the overall median salary.
- Female CEO's yearly median salary is 19% below the male CEO's yearly median salary.

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Agency Size

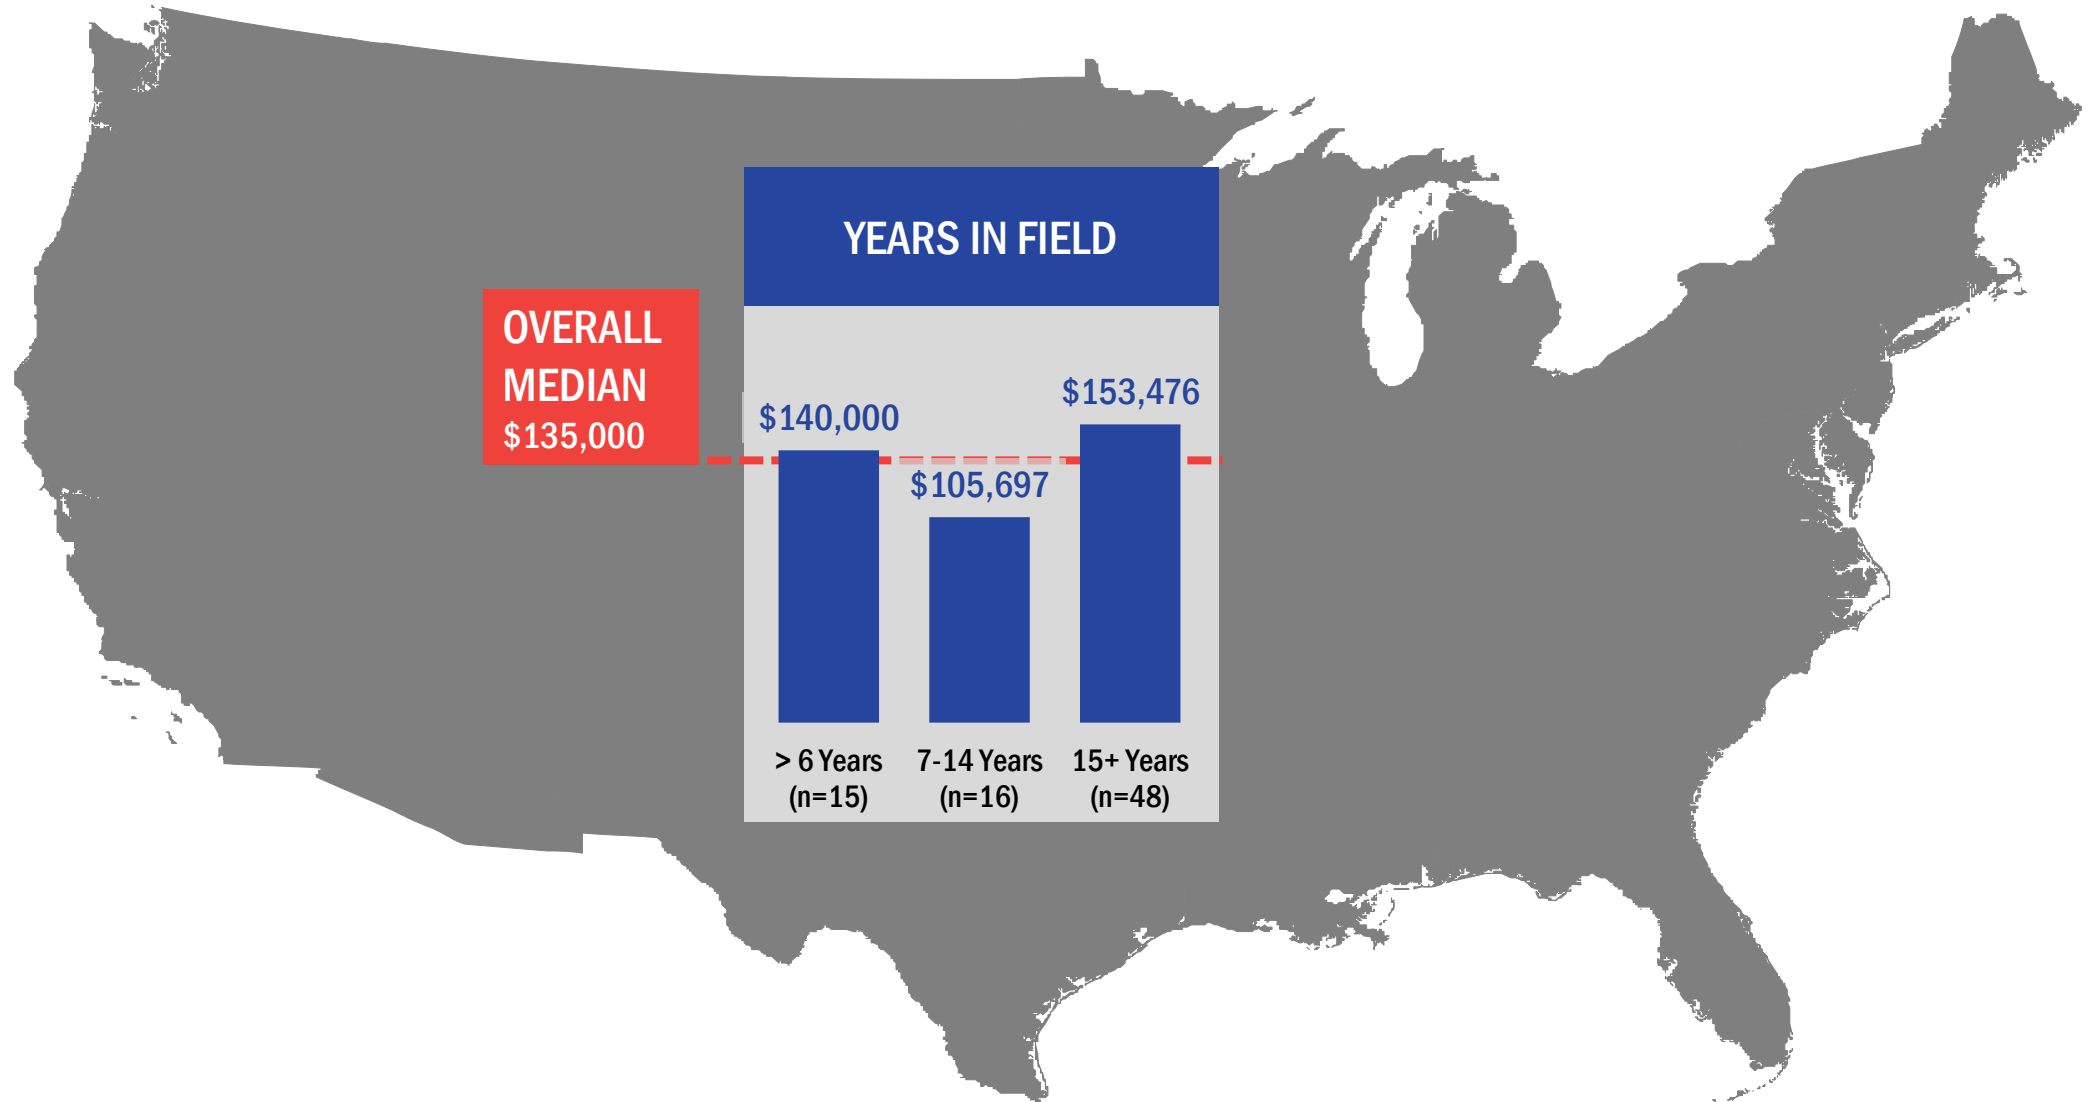

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Agency Size

- Agency size (as measured by the agency's budget) is very strongly related to CEO compensation levels. (This relationship is stronger than the relationships between years in the field or years in the agency and CEO compensation.)
- The yearly median salary of CEO's of agencies with the largest budgets ($3 million +) is 17% above the overall median salary.
- The yearly median salary of CEO's of agencies with medium budgets ($from $500,000 to $2,999,999) is 17% below the overall median salary.
- The yearly median salary of CEO's of agencies with the smallest budgets (below $499,000) is 44% below the overall median salary.
- 39 of the CEO's work in agencies whose budgets are in the "$3+ million range.

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Years in Jewish Human Service Field

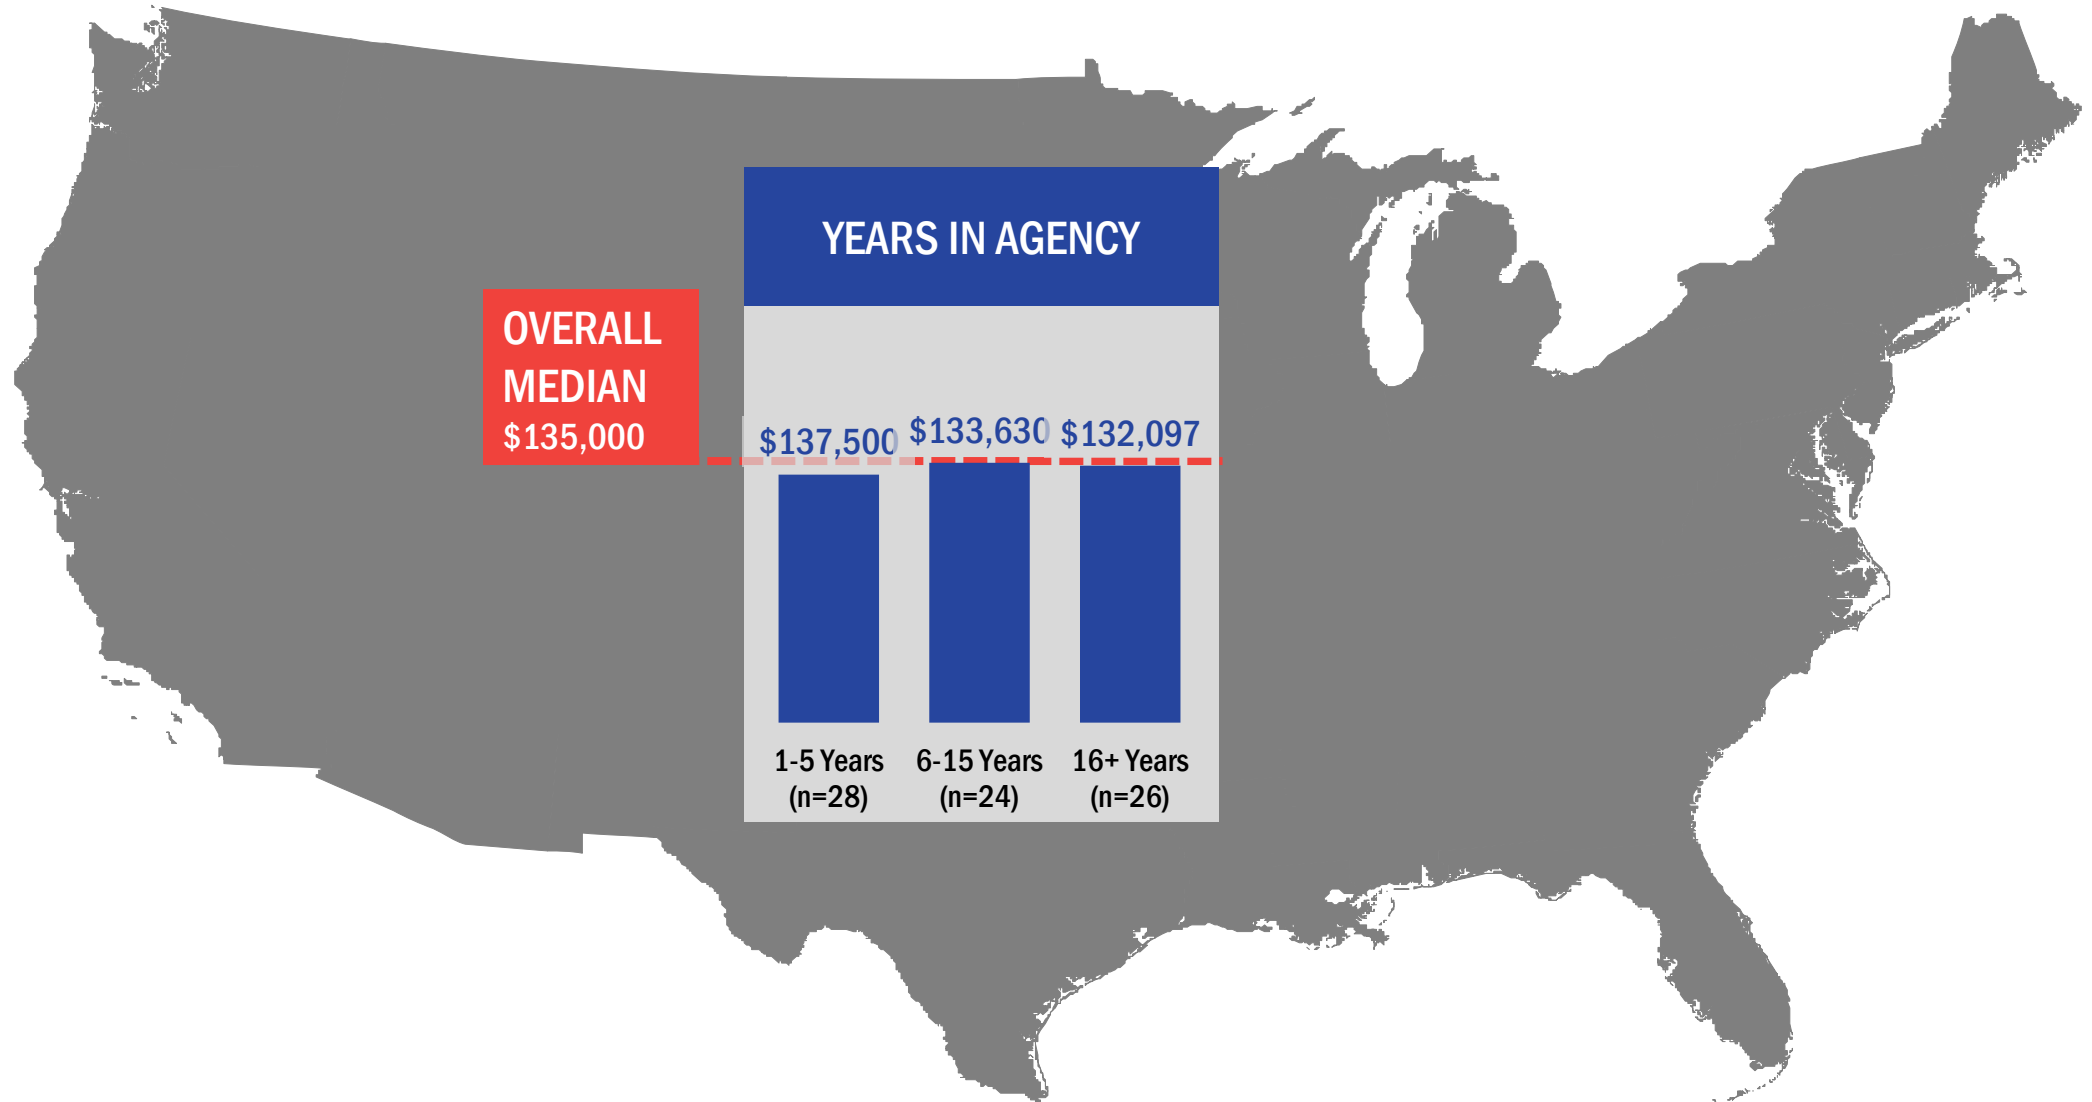

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Years in Jewish Human Service Field

- The relationship between a CEO's compensation and the length of their Jewish human service career can be characterized by a U curve: it is highest for those who spent many years in the field and also high (but to a smaller extent) for those who have more recently entered the field.
- The yearly median salary of CEO's who have spent 15+ years in the Jewish human service field is 14% above the overall median salary.
- The yearly median salary of CEO's who have spent between 6 - 15 years in the Jewish human service field is 22% below the overall median salary.
- The yearly median salary of CEO's who have spent from 1 – 5 years in the Jewish human service field is 4% higher than the overall median salary.

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Years in Agency

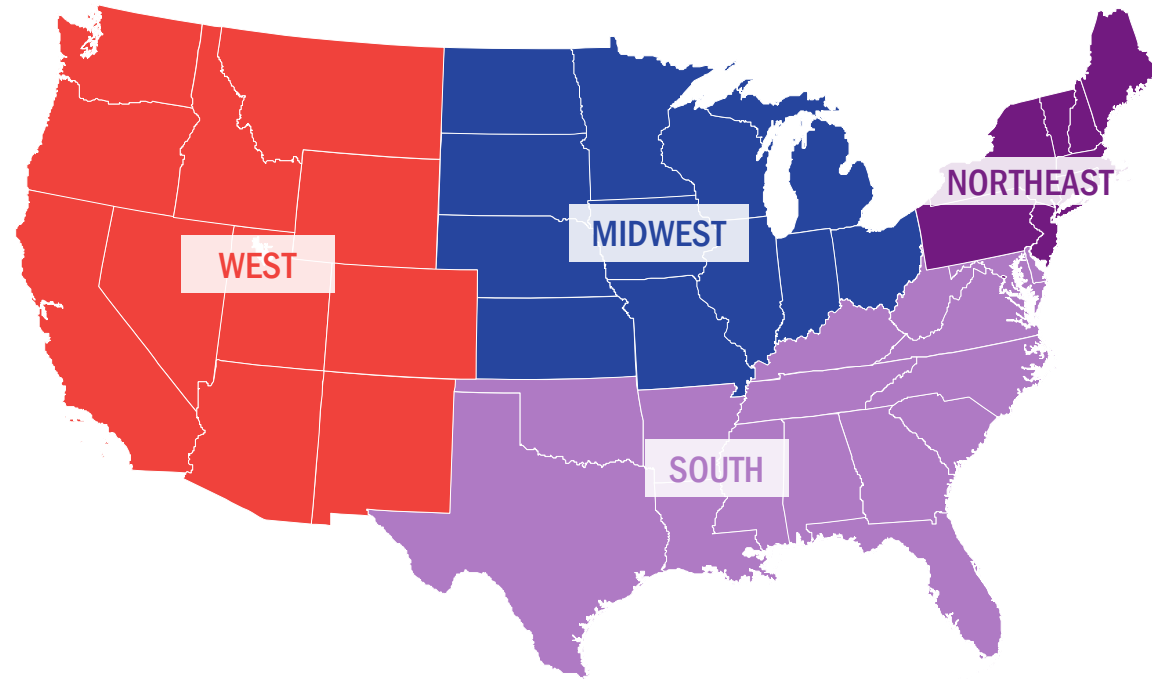

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Years in Agency

- The number of years a CEO has been in his/her agency does not seem to be highly correlated with their salary levels.
- The yearly median salary of CEO's of agencies who have been in their agency 16 or more years is 2% lower than the overall median salary.
- The yearly median salary of CEO's of who have been in their agency 6 – 15 years is 1% lower than the overall median salary.
- The yearly median salary of CEO's of agencies who have been in their agency from 1 - 5 years is 2% higher than the overall median salary.

Median 2018 CEO Salary by Region

Median 2018 CEO Salary by Region

- CEO's in the Northeast earn the highest (median) yearly salaries whereas the CEO's in the West earn the lowest median yearly salaries. (The differential between these two regions is 8%.)
- The Western region is home to some of the largest agencies with the most highly paid CEO's AND is also home to some of the smallest agencies whose CEO's are on the low range of the salary spectrum.
- CEO yearly median compensation differentials among the four regions range from 3% to 8%.
- Yearly median CEO compensation differences are smallest between the West and the South (5%) and between the South and the Midwest (3%).

Overall 2018 CEO Salary Differentials by Gender

- Although overall, the median salary for male CEO's is 21% higher than for female CEO's, this is not the case across the board. There are 2 situations where females are earning more than men and there is 1 situation where the genders are approaching salary parity.
- Specifically, female CEO's who are new to the Jewish human service field are earning salaries 31% higher than their male counterparts. A similar – and possibly related – phenomenon is that female CEO's who are relatively new to their agency (1-5 years) are earning 10% more than more recently hired males. In both cases, the female CEO's are earning approximately $150,000 which is $15,000 above the overall median yearly CEO salary ($135,000) and is equivalent to the overall average.*
- Perhaps the most important finding is that female and male CEO's of the largest agencies whose budgets are in excess of $3 million are earning very comparable yearly salaries, though the males are still earning 4% more. In these large agencies males are earning a yearly median of $195,000 and females a median of $188,000.

* We have shown previously that years in the field is inversely related to salary levels.

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Region and Years in Jewish Human Service Field

- In all four U.S. regions, the CEO's who have been in the Jewish human service field the longest (e.g., 15+ years) are also the CEO's who are receiving higher compensation.
- However, in 3 of the 4 U.S. regions (the Northeast, the South and the Midwest), the CEO's who have been in the field fewer than 6 years are earning more than those in the field from 7-14 years.

Overall 2018 CEO Salary by Region and Years in Agency

- In 2 of the 4 U.S. regions (and also in Canada), CEO's who have been in their agencies fewer than 6 years are earning more than their longer-tenured colleagues.
- This appears to be related to the finding that a substantial proportion of the “newcomers” (e.g., those in the agency less than 6 years), are employed by agencies whose budgets are $3+ million agencies.
