

Director of Development JFS Salt Lake City, UT

Join a dynamic and growing agency. If you love the mountains; skiing and hiking then consider this position in our growing organization

The Director of Development will have a degree in non-profit management, social work administration, communications or related field. Five plus years experience in a development position with a non-profit, excellent interpersonal and computer skills.

Responsibilities include: oversight of donor relations programs, managing fundraising initiatives, identifying and cultivating perspective individual and corporate donors, development of print marketing materials, oversight of planned and annual giving campaigns, development of relationships with service providers, funders and community leaders as well as supervising other development staff.

Full time position with benefits (medical, and 503(b) plan, vacation and sick time as well as national and Jewish holidays.

Interested parties can send cover letter and resume to ellen@jfsutah.org